As recruits for the third unit of the Colorado company of the national all-states division of the Women's Army Corps, seventeen women volunteers were on their way Friday to the Wac training center.

They left Denver Thursday, carrying with them an American flag presented by the Colorado chapter, D. A. R. This and the Colorado state flag later will be hung in the center's hall of flags with those of all other states.

The fourth and last unit of the Colorado company is scheduled to leave about Dec. 7, the anniversary of Pearl Harbor.
